HOW TO COOK AND SERVE THE CANVAS-BACK.

Upon the table, the canvas-back makes royal dish, though few can distinguish between it and the red-head when both are in season. Only those very familiar with the birds can tell which is which when alive, and, when served, it becomes almost an impossibility. The celery flavor is more marked in the canvas-back in the best of the season. It is seldom served precisely as it should be any-where out of Maryland. If allowed to remain in the oven five minutes too long, it is unfit for the table. A good deal depends upon the carving. A good quick oven will cook a full-sized duck in twenty-two minutes. It should never nemain in over twenty-five. After a duck is picked and drawn, it should be simply wiped dry. Water should never touch it, and it should be fairly seasoned before going to the fire. When done, the birds should be placed in pairs in hot, thy dishes. There is no need to prepare a gravy; immediately they are cut, they will fill the dish with the richest gravy that ever was tasted. One canvas-back to each "cover," is considered a fair allowance at a Maryland table, but, when the bird is only an incident of the dinner or supper, of course half a bird is sufficient fut each person. Slicing the bird is unheard of. The twopronged fork is inserted diagonally astride the breastbone, and the knife lays half of the bird on each side, leaving the carcass" on the fork between. The triangle of meat an inch thick comprised between the leg and the wing, with its apex at the back and its base at the breast, is considered the most delicious morsel of ment that exists. The canvasback in Maryland is served with large hominy fried in cakes, celery, and a dry champagne, or a bottle of Burgundy that is Burgundy.

A TERRIBLE INDIAN-KILLER.

A man who has been in the Black lills and returned is a big gun at the fillage drug store, and feels called upon to tell the truth when narrating his adventures. Such a man, named Curt, was telling, the other night, how many Indians he had killed during his three months' residence in the Hills. After he had talked half an hour, one of the listeners, who had kept track of the number killed, exhibited the figures. "I find," he exclaimed, "that you killed 1,500 m three months." "Is that all?" exclaimed the unabashed Black Hiller "Why, I believe you have left out a week's work there somewhere." "If you had such good luck killing Indians, why didn't you stay there?" demanded another suspicious listener. "Well, the truth is, gentlemen, I was afraid of ruining my left eye. I'd squinted along my gun-barrel so much that my face was being drawn out of shape, and the sight was so far gone that I had to be led about by a dog."

"And you killed Indians while in that "I did; though I've always felt a lit tle mean about. I couldn't see to shoot, and so I run 'em down and kicked 'em to death. It wasn't manly in me, and I want to ask the forgivness of you,

There was a long spell of appalling silence, and then some one said that Eph Francis had bought a new coon dog .-Bismarck Tribune.

"Stovepipe" Hats

The style in silk hats is regulated by an association, and it is this regulation which insures their being uniform, or nearly so, throughout the country. The fashions in tall hats are changed twice a year, and the association meets semiannually for the purpose of determining what the styles shall be. At these meetings manufacturers who belong to the association (or as many as see fit) each hand in a model hat for the consideration of those present are suggested and discussed, and it is then determined by vote what shall be the style of the fashion for the season .- Boston Herald.

LAST March the republicans of Athens, Me., indulged in a celebration of President Hayes' inauguration, and in firing a salute broke several windows in the house of a democratic resident --He put in a claim for damages, which was resisted on the ground that it was exorbitant and that a large part of the damage alleged was not the result of the firing. The case teams to trial before a justice a few days ugo, and three days were passed in hearing testimony. Al most every resident in the town testified on one side or the other, and much bad feeling resulted. After the testimony was over the case was sent to the Maine supreme court on questions of law.

The inference is that the world of that age know more about the sources of the Nilo than the present age, until Stanley and others unde their discoveries

On the 13th, after midnight, over one hundred armed mon appeared at the jail and demanded that Proctor be surrendered to them for punishment This was refused, and failing to find the key to the jail, they attempted to beat down the door, and only gave up the attempt after a hard hours work. In the meantime a large crowd gathered at the jail, but did not in any way interfere with the mob. Nothing is known as towhere the mob belonged, or where it went after this demonstration. Proctor is under sentunce to the penitontiary for horse stealing, but is out on an appeal bond. He and his family are on the general principle of his deserv. ing it, rather than on any evidence of his connection with the late outrage-There is great excitement in Warren county over the affair, and fears are still entertained that the mob may yet succeed in carrying out its purpose.

HOW'S SANFORDI

Doon He Craved the Belgian Mission Out of Everts' ffend by Stating His Stomach k Washington Cor. No. 25 Tribune.

The very fact that Mr. Sanford is a wealthy man and a successful dinnergiver is considered, so his defenders say, by the secretary of state, as better tion Mr. Events is said to refer, to an incident of which he has personal knowledgo, where Mr. Sanford's success in dinner-giving proved very useful to the government and the country during the war, when French opinion was not as cordial to the United States government as it might have been, and when the rebel ship the Shenandoah was in a port of France. Mr Dayton was our minister to France, Charles Francis Adams our minister to England, and Mr. Sanfind our minister to Belguin. Mr Evants, at the request of President Lincoln, went to France for the purpose of bringing about a better understanding between our government and that of the French. Upon arriving there he found that the stories he had heard of Mr Dayton's inability to establish intimate personal relations, with the French government were true. He had never been, invited to dinner by the French premier, Dronyn de l'Huys; had never intertained that minister at the American legation, and seemed to have no ability to place himself in close personal relation to the French government.-Mr Everts, in order to accomplish the objects of his mission, desired to have a few hours' social chat with the French premier. After spending several days with M. Dayton he found that he had might no process, and that it seemed almost impossible to get necess to the French administration through any facilinest which the American cinbussy could offer him In the meantime, and while attempting to devise some means of reaching the French premier, Mr. Evarts spent a day at the capital of Belgium, and incidentally at dinner wen-noused the purpose of his visit to Min-istre Sanford. The latter immediately replied that if Mr. Everts wished it, he (Sanford) should arrange it so that he could drink wind all the next right with the French premier Mr. Exarts said that that was what he desired above all things; that it wies, indeed the principle object of his mission, Mr. Sanford, who, according to Mr. Evarts, seem-rd to be on the most friendly terms with the King of the Belgians, immediately visited the king and told him of his deshe that Drouyn de l'Huys should invite Mr. Evarts and a friend or two to dine with him the next Wednesday.-The Belgum king, without hesitation, acted upon Mr. Sanford's suggestion, and immediately communicated his request to the French minister. The rendt was that! Hr Everts received the invitation be desired, and the issue of his social chat with the French premior was that he received a written order prohibiting the departure of the Shen-or stop cating his dinners," said Mr Evarts, contemptuously, to Stanley. Mat-story is not told on Mr. Evarts' authority, but on that of Mr. Sanford's friends;

, And so the mission goes to Sanford,

THE WAY TO DO IT.

. Perhaps the following timely advice from the Troy Times will enable some of our renders to improve their usual Thunksgiving dinner: "As Thanksgiving approaches it may not be amiss to say a word in regard to poultry. As much, if not more, depends on the manner of killing poultry as in the dressing, to have it look fit for market. Too much caution cannot be used in this brauch of business. One mode of killing fowls (uste alof wringing their necks, which we doprocate), is to cut their heads off with a single blow of a sharp ave, hang them up by the legs and allow them to bleed freely, and pluck their teathers namediately—while warm. The French mode, which is highly commended, we think far the best, as it causes instant death without pain or disfigurement, and is simply done by opening the beak of the fowl, and with a shurp-pointed and narrow-bladed knife making an incision at the back of the roof of the mouth, which will divide the vertebrae and causes instant death, after which hang the fowl up by the legs till the blooding ceases, and plack it while warm it you desire the feathers to be removed. With a little care the skin of the fowl does not become as torn and ragged as it does in the old-fashioned way of scalding. Another thing, the flesh presents a borter and more natural appearance when not scalded."

NO MORE SLEEPLESS NIGHTS.

The last method we have heard of for ouring cases of pure sleeplessness, when unaccompanied by pain or disease, is the following. Get out of bed and take a linen bandage, although a large handkerchief neatly folded longwise will do as well, perhaps better. Dip one-half of the handkerchief into water; pass the hard, characters, and the attempt at the handkerchief into water; pass the lynching seems to have been conducted wet portion round the wrist; over this lay the dry half, and tuck in the end so as to make all secure. Lie down again. The wet bandage will be found to exereise a most soothing influence on the pulse, this will soon extend over all the nerrous system, and calm, refreshing sleep will be the result.

" PARTED,"

It is seldom that Decatur is favored with dramatic entertainments of such rare merit as the one given last night at the opera house, by Mrs. Chanfrau and her company. The play, "Parted," Is one which gives full scope to dramatic talent of the highest order, is most happily conceived in its plot, and the different nets and scenes are so related to each other as o make every part of the piece perspicnous, and produce the strongest possible effect. In the presentation of the play by this company as now constituted, each actor is most happily adapted to his or her part, and last night from beginning to end there was not a blunder or a mistake, or aught else to mar the beauty of Mrs. Chanfrau as "Grace Shirley," performed her part in a manner that would reflect honor upon the most renowned framatic artists on the American stage. In her manner she is natural and easy; in those parts of the piece requiring an exhibition of tenderness she approximates the angelic, and in those passages calling Read the eard of the millers in to-day's for an expression of scorn and contempt for rescality and meanness, she can give paper, and prepare to eat cheaper bread, [expression to those feelings in a manner that is not only withering in its effect upon those for whom the contempt is intended, but absolutely terrific. In a word, we are free to say that better acting was never done in Decatur than that by Mrs. Chantrau last night. Mr Frank Mordaunt, as "Dorsey Shir ley," was also the peer of any man who has ever appeared in dramatic entertainments in this city-Lawrence Barrett and Edwin Forrest not excepted.

"Mr. Harry Anson," as the representative of the Press, was done in fine style by F. D. Allen, while Willie Maurice acted the negro character, as Dorsey Shirley's colored servant, in a way that could evening of next week. He made the not well be excelled. For child acting that of "Mand Shir-

Dayton, Ohio, Journal.
Senator Morton's will bequeathes his estate to his wife, with an injunction to care for the education of the children.

Phis is the right kind of a will. If a good wife and mother will not care for her children, upon whom can they depend? And who ought to know so well as the husband and father, whether the wife and mother can be trusted?

If wills were more uniformly made in this way, families would be much more apt to enjoy the proceeds of the joint ndustry of man and wife, father and mother, much less would be wasted in ourts and fees. If a law could be made requiring the estate of a deceased husband to go to the widow in trust for the benefit of the children, we believe it would prove a public blessing.

"LARGE SALES AND SMALL PROFITS."

OUR MOTTO,

& SCRUGGS

Acting upon this principle, have built up a trade that has no parallel, in the blatory of the trade, in any similar oity in the United States. It is a common occurrence that lampes define large business are looked upon by surbons and short-skrited eyes as subscipping-parallel in the welfare of the community. But this is not so. A monopolist is one who buys up all of certain class of goods, and thus controlling the whole supply, is at likely to last desirate the price to whatever high figures be chosen. Int if, when he controlle be supply, be self-act more than a just profit, he is not a monopolist in the oflions sense of that terms and squite, if he large purchases he is controlled to obtain merchandles at the lowest possible rate from the peaks exe, and then sells it at a smaller advance beyond cost than any others self, the begones are useful agent in behalf of consumers, and though their competitors may surfar, the peaks a large are absolute gainers. Millions of dollars are axed to communities by the tablest and enter price of merchants and tradeounce. And all the encouragement that receive beyond the fact of dollars and cents, is a power that bears from which all may gather.

—IN— CHAIN PUMPS.

The subscriber would respectfully announce of the citizens of Decatur and Mason and administ counties, that he has secured the Exchange light to MANUFACTURE AND SELL

MERRILL & BARTLETT'S WATER-PURIFYING,

RUBBER BUCKET

CHAIN PUMP

And is prepared to turnish said Chain Pumps on short notice.

The advantages of this Pump over many others are many. The Chain being buttoniess, it is much lighter, consequently it is not limbe to break, and works much easier. The Rubber Buckets, which are attached to the Chain, will not wear the tobing, consequently it will last longer than when Metal Buttons are used. It is, positively, ANTI-FIREZ/INI, it is a positive Water Puriller, as each bucket is constructed with an Air Chamber, which carries a given quantity of pure air into the water which lumedately diffuses through the entire body of water, purifying and eleming, and rendering it fit for use.
